

Development phase of Stennis airport renovations underway

BY AMY PICKICH

The project development phase of some $2 million worth of improvements to the 22-year-old facilities at Stennis International Airport got underway at Monday's meeting of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.

Cortech, Inc. was awarded three contracts for a total of $31,000 to begin designing preliminary plans for improvements to the terminal apron, taxiway and runway at the airport.

Preliminary plans must be ready when the FAA decides in order to receive the high priority funds. A decision could be made on March 23, depending on the legislature.

Once the FAA determines funding, the commission will only have to come up with 5 percent of the funds, as the FAA will pay 90 percent and the state, 5 percent. A portion of the commission's 5 percent will come from a recent rate embarkment-debarkment fee charged to airlines, which was established in January.

If the FAA awards no money to the county, the state will pay 75 percent of the engineering fees.

Port and Harbor director Hal Walters said the state was surprised at the amount of increased activity at the airport and realized the needs and current deterioration at the facility.

The matter of redoing the sign at Stennis International was discussed. Casino Magic had offered to pay for a new sign, which the commission is looking into. The cost of a new sign was estimated at $1,200.

Terry Green was awarded the railroad maintenance contract as the lowest bidder. His fee will vary from month to month.

The commission rescinded a previous motion to pay Fleet Tire Service of Gulfport $1,520 for 10 fire truck tires, as the excise tax was not included in the original bid. The commission approved payment of $1,624 to Fleet Tire Service, as they were still the low bidder once the excise tax was added in.

Sand starts pumping

Refurbishment project underway around the clock

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Roaring bulldozers and sand-gushing pipes have taken over a segment of South Beach Boulevard beachfront, as sea gulls squeal in feasting delight.

Work started Tuesday afternoon, and was in full swing by Wednesday, to refurbish the deteriorated beaches from Washington Street in Bay St. Louis to the Buccaneer State Park area in Waveland.

The action started in the 900 block of South Beach, stretching 1,000 feet between a large drainage outfall near Ramoneda Street and the edge of Christ Episcopal Church.

Supervisors on the job Wednesday said some 1,500 yards of sand is spewing on the beach per hour from a massive pipeline to a borrow pit in the Mississippi Sound.

As the sand hits the beach, droves of sea gulls swarm around the greyish looking material, finding shrimp and other delights. "They're getting fat," said Mike Latiolais, who was supervising the work Wednesday morning. T.L. James and Co. is under a $2.9 million contract to complete the pumping and restoration work for the county.

Latiolais said the initial work is proceeding smoothly, and will continue 24 hours a

County trash collection fees still up in the air

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Hancock County officials are wavering on the eve of a new trash collection system.

The Board of Supervisors plans to meet today with area officials involved in the new system, and tie up loose, controversial ends of the program. Still in the air are such critical details as how much the new service will cost residents, and how the monthly fees will be collected. And, the supervisors aren't sure they should have agreed to begin household garbage collections April 1 as planned.

The county, Bay St. Louis and Waveland formed a solid waste collection district recently, and have awarded contracts for the collection and disposal of waste throughout the county.

But some residents of the unincorporated area are upset to learn that the five convenience centers the county has provided for household refuse will be closed permanently on March 31. After that, the new service will provide household pickups beside mailboxes.

Tuesday, Supervisor Alton Kellar said he's gotten a lot of constituent calls asking why the county is beginning the service April 1 — when it isn't mandated to do so until October 1995.

Some want to know why the unincorporated area pickups will be only once weekly, while city residents get twice weekly service, he said.

Supervisor Robert Peterson said some residents who are accustomed to taking their refuse to the county centers probably won't heed signs posted there advising of the service changes. Then he said, the residents will miss the household pickups, and won't have any place to dispose of trash.

Supervisor Howard Lizana suggested the county leave the centers open a couple of weeks after the April 1 household collection starts.

Board President Michael Ladner said perhaps a month would be better. Many people won't read the signs, he said. "A lot of them can't even read, period."

Ladner said today's meeting with waste district officials should reveal how much the

Arsonist sought in county fires

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A 98-acre fire was "flapped out by hand" by Bayside volunteer firefighters and Forestry Commission employees Tuesday night, according to forester Mark Jamieson.

The Brignac property, located off Lower Bay Road, burned for about an hour before being reported. Jamieson said, "Someone set the fire maliciously, late in the afternoon. We had it out by 9 p.m. with the help of five volunteers from Bayside.

"We had to use hand tools because of the location. We are offering a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the perpetrator. I am personally kicking in $100."

Forestry employees Buddy Cuevas and Alton Roche assisted with firefighting efforts.

The fire was one of several in

Day of Prayer observed Friday

The Hancock County Ministerial Association will sponsor the Community Day of Prayer Friday, March 18. It will be hosted by Pastor Vernon Knight and the Lutheran Church of the Pines on Hwy. 90 at 10 a.m. The public is invited to come and participate in this Christian fellowship.

This is the 20th anniversary of this observance, and prayer is the theme and topic of the worship service. The people who have parts in the program represent a number of different denominations from this area.

The service will be for one hour and is ecumenical and interdenominational.

The offering will be given to the Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund Inc., a recognized charitable entity.

This year, the cover on the program bulletin at the service will honor the late Mrs. Ina Piazza, who was for many years the volunteer secretary of the Ministerial Association. Several of her co-workers have put this cover together to honor her memory on this occasion.

Status of fishing reefs questioned

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Hancock County officials plan to demand an answer from the state Bureau of Marine Resources: reef or cut bait.

Supervisor Robert Peterson said Tuesday the county has written BMR a number of letters asking that fishing reefs be created at three sites: the Ulman, Washington and Garfield-Ladner piers. It's time, he said, to get BMR's intentions on the matter in writing. The Board of Supervisors agreed to ask BMR for official acceptance or rejection of the proposal.

Peterson said for relatively little cost, BMR could create natural reefs of oyster shells at the piers. That would attract fish for local children and adults who use the piers, he said. Also, the piers could harbor oysters that could be harvested, he said.

"I just can't understand why it's such a big deal to do something like that," Peterson said.

PEARLINGTON ISSUES

In other action Tuesday, the board agreed to a request from five ministers from the Pearlington area to name a community park on Whites Road in memory of long-time civic leader Rev. R.N. Sams. Supervisors lauded the ministers for wanting to be involved in improving and maintaining the park, and suggested they work with the county Parks and Recreation Commission to upgrade it.

Two other requests were aired by the ministers: upgrading the Pearlington public cemetery and pushing for water and sewerage systems in Pearlington. The board already has voted to correct problems at the cemetery grounds, and has begun preliminary work to get sewerage grants for the community.

Kellar, who represents the area, said officials from three agencies recently toured the area and saw sewage in ditches. "The people who came and looked at it said... they didn't know there was something like this in the state," Kellar said.

Officials are working to apply for a $450,000 grant by May 1. But Kellar cautioned that sum "won't even start to sewer all of Pearlington. No way."

MARINA SALE

In other business, Board attorney Gerald Gex said all parties involved in the county sale of Bayou Caddy Marina are ready to consummate the deal. The county is selling the marina for $200,000 to Bayou Caddy Marina, which is owned by the Cure family. The Cures have an arrangement with Jubilee Casino to lease the marina site for parking.

Gex, who represents the Cure family as well as the county board, said the Cures already have paid $130,000 of the purchase price and will pay the rest at closing. He got approval for Ladner and Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise, to sign the property deed.

CONSTRUCTION TAX

In other matters, county library director Prima Plauche suggested the county work to have state law amended to exempt local governments from a 3.5 percent construction tax levied by the state. Plauche said the state contractor's sales tax fee is applicable to all projects.

Contractors add the tax onto the cost of building, she said. The upcoming library addition and renovation project will have a $25,000 expense for the tax, she said. She added that $23,600. Engineer Carlos Cordón recommended accepting the bid, as he had estimated a cost of around $20,000 for the job.

Commissioners Lonnie Ladner and Bud Frierson voted against the matter. They agreed the job should be advertised again as Twin L was the only bidder.

Gordon said unless the specifications in the advertisement were changed, the price would be about the same.

The commission has been looking at installing the meters because more water is leaving than is being billed. Cordón said the installation will pay for itself in about a year because of the water saved.

The commission agreed to join the Mississippi Builders

Team Program at a cost of $1,100 as part of a tri-county membership. Harrison and Jackson counties will pay the remainder of the $5,000 total fee.

Walter recommended the commission join the organization, which puts on trade shows to present development and investment information for Mississippi.

The commission approved Hazclean to perform a phase I and partial phase II property assessment of Lot 5A, now vacated by Ryan Marine Shipyard at a cost of $4,896.

The commission accepted a quote of $4,736 for ground radio equipment at the airport.

The minutes of January 26, February 14, February 22 and all dockets were approved.

Bay St. Louis city officials recently questioned the tax's inclusion on bids for repairs to the roof at the gym in the Valena C. Jones complex.

In other action Tuesday, the board heard complaints from two residents of the White, Cypress Lakes subdivision. Resident Larry Carter said roads in the area are in "deplorable" condition, and that "quick fix" efforts at repairing them are a waste of tax money.

Carter complained that he and many other subdivision residents have placed repeated requests to county road officials to address the problems with long-term solutions. The only responses, he said, have been substandard patching of potholes. "Somebody needs to go back to school. It's a waste of money," he said of the patch work.

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It was a beautiful day Tuesday with the start of the sand beach renourishment project underway. Along with a lot of other folks have been waiting for many years to see the renourishment of the sand beach become a reality.

Hancock County will once again, upon completion of the five-plus miles, have a beach that will be the envy of many.

Our Hancock County Board of Supervisors needs to be complimented on their efforts for making the sand beach renourishment a reality.

The 47th Annual Spring Pilgrimage begins today at the John C. Stennis Space Center and Hancock County's Welcome Center on I-10.

The times are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with the Diamondhead Garden Club playing host at the Space Center and the Bay-Waveland Garden Club as host at the Welcome Center.

The Pilgrimage is a time for residents as well as visitors to visit many of the homes and places of interest in our county as well as along the Coast.

Friday marks the Pilgrimage for Pass Christian. Maps and brochures will be available from noon to 4 p.m. at the Wicker n' Wood, 254 East Beach Blvd.

The Pass tour will offer four homes for visitors to view. They are the Fred Clerc home, 5 Park Ridge Lane, noon to 4 p.m.; the Brown home, 103 Courtenay Avenue, 1 to 5 p.m.; Dr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Burdette III home, 845 East Scenic Drive; and Dr. and Mrs. Harry Danielson home, 849 East Scenic Drive.

The Pilgrimage moves to Ocean Springs on Saturday and to Gautier, Moss Point and Pascagoula on Sunday. I will be bringing you more information on the Bay-Waveland and Diamondhead area on Sunday.

Saturday is the Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee's big cleanup day for the county.

All individuals and groups who have adopted a street or road are encouraged to clean up their areas.

The annual Spring Pilgrimage continues this coming week with Bay St. Louis and Waveland scheduled for Tuesday and Diamondhead set for Wednesday.

Darlene Underwood is the clean-up chairman with Betsy Ashman as vice-chairman.

Interested parties are asked to call the chamber at 467-9048 or the Extension Service at 467-5456 for further information and also to get trash bags for the cleanup.

Residents and business owners are also asked to check the fronts, sides and backs of their properties and make sure there is no litter around.

It only takes a few minutes of your time.

Members of the Diamondhead Rotary Club and Business and Professionals Association are to meet at 8 a.m. Saturday to clean the I-10 Interchange in that community.

More and more residents are concerned about litter, and I am glad they are trying to make our community Litter Free.

Only through the help of everyone can this be achieved.

I, personally want to thank everyone who takes the time and effort to help with this cleanup. You can make a difference.

By the way, if you cannot clean up on Saturday, you possibly can do it on another day.

The Hancock County Community Day of Prayer is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday at the Lutheran Church of the Pines, Highway 90, Waveland.

This is an annual Lenten service sponsored by the Hancock County Ministerial Association, and it is an interdenominational and ecumenical service.

This will mark the 20th year for the Community Day of Prayer, and members from many churches will participate in the service. Everyone from the community is invited to attend.

The offering will be given to the Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund.

I understand the intersection of Coleman and Central avenues is closed to traffic due to drainage improvements.

I found the intersection closed Monday when I tried to use the intersection.

A representative of Sumrall Construction came by the office Monday evening and told me his company has the contract to install larger culverts. He indicated the intersection will be closed for two months.

Special cleanup

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson has a group of trustees busy collecting litter along county roads. Hancock Auxiliary Deputy John Wallace, in charge of the pickup, reports the trustees are collecting a large amount of litter. Peterson said he has also instructed his deputies to issue citations to persons littering. Peterson added, "We want to keep our county Litter Free." The trustees are to work for about three weeks and are collecting more than 50 bags of trash a day. Sam Cuevas, county road superintendent's crews collect the bags of trash each evening. South Mississippi weathers guard cuts well

The Pentagon's announcement to cut about 55,000 slots from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps reserve by the end of this year has caused a stir among our nation's Guard and Reserve units.

However, in Mississippi the recent announcement doesn't mean that all of our state's deactivated units will be without a mission. In most cases, deactivation simply means the unit will be redesignated new duties.

I'll be the first to admit the Pentagon's Fiscal Year 1994 Component Unit Inactivations report looked miserable on paper. Yet, only three of Mississippi's National Guard units were scheduled for deactivation. Of those three units, Lucedale's 786th Transportation Company will be redesignated for reorganization, and as of Sept. 1, 1994 will become the 150th Combat Engineer Battalion.

Furthermore, efforts are underway at this time to keep the men and women of Rich-ton's 785th Engineer Detachment and Collins' 623rd Service Company in uniform.

While in close contact with Mississippi's National Guard leaders, I have great confidence that they are doing everything humanly possible to retool the Richton and Collins units to meet the Service's future mission.

If the worst scenario is played out and no feasible mission can be found, I have been given every assurance by the Pentagon that personnel would be given the opportunity to transfer to another unit. If a position is not available, members will be discharged with benefits.

The state's two Air Force Reserve units, the 403rd Medical Group in Gulfport and the 815th Weather Squadron, will simply see a change of name. The 403rd will be absorbed into units at Keesler and the 815th will be redesignated the 53rd Weather Reconnaissance Squadron or Hurricane Hunters.

As our nation's Military Service's mission is refined, I am confident South Mississippi's citizen soldiers will continue to retool their skills to meet the needs of reorganization. We have done it in the past and we will continue to do it in the future.

Everyone realizes that with the overall reduction of active forces, fewer Reserve components are required to respond to regional conflicts rather than a "Cold War" threat. Therefore, our nation's Military Service's mission must and will change.

The most recent Bottom-Up Review has been kind to Mississippi because of the excellent foresight of our state's Guard and Reserve leaders. Many saw the changes coming and prepared for them accordingly.

From a national viewpoint, only a small percentage of the nation's overall personnel reductions are taking place in Mississippi. Having only been scathed this year by the reorganization is a testament to Mississippi's highly decorated and totally dedicated National Guard and Reserve units.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Ruhr is a bright spot as Waveland crossing guard

To the Editor:

Before another school year ends, I would like to give a compliment to a very special lady at Waveland Elementary School. This lady is our crossing guard, Earline Ruhr.

Mrs. Ruhr does such a fine job in directing traffic. Come rain or shine, in any kind of weather, Mrs. Ruhr is out there with the safety of our children as her top priority.

On holidays she dresses to fit the occasion. She really brings smiles to children's faces and parents alike. She really gets into her job and for this I am thankful.

I'm sure I speak for a lot of parents when I say how grateful I am to have Mrs. Ruhr at our school. Along with our teachers, Mrs. Ruhr, you're one of the best. Keep up the good work. We appreciate it.

Sincerely,
Sharon Bissonnette

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Providing for rural health needs

Rural Americans impart a special strength to our national character and should have the same opportunities for economic development and adequate health care as those who live in cities. While health care costs have grown, access to primary care services has declined, particularly in rural communities.

That is why I have been working closely with my colleagues in the Senate and the House of Representatives in crafting health care legislation to ensure that the unique needs of rural Americans are included.

Twenty-five percent of the nation's population resides in rural communities. They have a larger percentage of older and poorer individuals, with the exception of inner cities, and usually are not part of employment-based health insurance systems.

There is a shortage of primary care doctors required in rural practices, due partly to the emphasis in the medical education system toward training specialists. The high percentage of medicare and medicaid recipients in rural populations tend to make physicians and hospitals more dependent on government revenues, preventing reorganization of facilities and services to better meet the needs of the population.

The special health needs of rural America are clear, and the "Affordable Health Care Now Act" which House Republican Leader Robert Michel and I have introduced in the Congress addresses them.

First, we establish equitable reimbursement policies for all health care providers. Rural providers now receive less than their urban counterparts for performing the same procedures and treatments for their patients. For rural health care providers to continue treating the elderly and the low-income, they must receive equitable reimbursement and extension of special treatment rules for medicare dependent, small rural hospitals.

Second, every rural citizen has to be guaranteed access to emergency health care services, and health care facilities in rural communities should be capable of offering comprehensive 24-hour emergency medical care.

Our bill proposes that the federal government make available to rural hospitals grants for the implementation of telecommunication linkups between rural facilities and larger medical centers to assist with the stabilization and treatment of critical patients. Grants also would fund emergency medical air transportation systems for rural communities.

Our health proposal would provide 100 percent tax deductibility of the cost of health insurance premiums to individuals, like farmers, now lacking coverage, and it would expand the Community Health Center program.

We also need to provide incentives to increase the number of physicians and health care providers in rural areas, including bonus payments to doctors who set up practice in rural areas, school loan forgiveness and expansion of the National Health Service Corps program.

Our legislative package is crafted to alleviate shortages of practitioners, to coordinate delivery systems, to encourage local participation in rural decisions, to provide access to emergency services, and to assure quality care.

Any health care reform initiative considered by this Congress and this President must include these elements that will guarantee both accessible and cost-effective quality health care to rural Americans.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions and/or comments about this column. Please write to: Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attention: Press Office).

The American Red Cross is encouraging residents living and working in Waveland and surrounding communities to give the gift of blood at the Waveland Community blood drive Wednesday, March 23 from 2-7 p.m. at the American Legion Post 77 on Coleman Avenue.

Giving blood is one of the most generous and selfless donations a person can make—it's the universal gift of love and life. It is a simple and safe procedure that takes approximately 45 minutes of your time—but can mean a lifetime to someone who needs blood.

Individuals who have not donated within the past 56 days as well as those who have never donated before are encouraged to do so during this drive.

Donors must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health. There is no age limit for senior citizens who are in good health.

For more information call the American Red Cross at (205) 438-2571.

"It is just too dry to burn, unless you are very careful," said the forester. Although no permit is needed for burning small piles of trash in the county, one is required for controlled burning.

Contact the firetower at 255-7152 for more information or to report a fire.

PIRGIMAGE AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

Pilgrimage heralds arrival of spring

SPRING IS HERE

The 44th annual Spring Pilgrimage, sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs, begins today and goes through Saturday, March 26, with "Twilight Time" at the Old Brick House in Biloxi.

The Diamondhead Garden Club's Pilgrimage chairman is Annette Saucier. She and the club members, who will be hostesses, have been busy preparing for Diamondhead's Day on March 23, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Four gardens in the community will be featured, and three homes will be open for public view. Lunch will be served at the country club on a dutch treat basis from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The garden club's annual flower show is on Tuesday, March 22 at the community center. Theme of this year's exhibit is "Broadway Bound."

When guests arrive Wednesday to pick up their maps for the tour, they will be able to view the lovely flowers and arrangements on display.

This year's Pilgrimage promises to be the best ever and a great way to show off our beautiful Gulf Coast communities. Hope to see you there.

GETTING READY

Hancock County's Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee has designated March as "Bright and Beautiful," and a special cleanup will be conducted countywide on March 19.

The Diamondhead Rotary Club and the Business and Professionals Association will conduct the cleanup of the I-10 interchange at Diamondhead and the surrounding areas on that date.

Diamondhead Garden Club members will have their community pickup on March 21 "getting ready" for the Pilgrimage. If everyone makes this an ongoing project, we can all say "we're doing more in '94."

NEW FACES

Stop by this Saturday, March 19 at 10 a.m. and meet the new doctor in our community.

Hancock Medical Center's new Diamondhead Clinic for Family Medicine with Dr. David E. Roberts at the helm, will have its grand opening and ribbon cutting ceremony at 543 Gex Drive. You are invited.

THE BIG ONE

Doors open at 6 p.m., and the $10,000 countdown benefiting our own Diamondhead Academy begins at 7 p.m. Tickets are $100 and you need not be present to win.

Please call 255-7638 or 255-4026 for tickets and information. Let's all support our school.

CONCERT CANCELLED

You will not be hearing those "heavenly voices" of the Bay Area Chorale as Joy Mehrkens, director, Bobbi Durkovich, president of the group, board members, etc. have decided to cancel the spring concert, which was to be held at Our Lady of the Gulf Church in Bay St. Louis April 10 and repeated again on April 16 at St. Peter's by the Sea in Gulfport.

The group will start rehearsing for a future performance. Please watch this column for date and time.

MORE NEW FACES

We welcome Rick Landry to Diamondhead. Rick is our new assistant golf pro and comes to us from Alexandria, La. He will be registered in the PGA apprentice program shortly and begins his PGA membership.

DIAMONDHEAD BOATERS

Those nautical folks and friends from the Diamondhead

Boaters Association will be soaking up (hopefully) some sunshine and filling up on boiled crawfish, corn and potatoes on land come this Saturday, March 19, 3 p.m. at the yacht club's Ship's Store and surrounding areas. Um, good, ya'll!

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

"Let children walk with nature. Let them see the beautiful blendings and communions of death and life, their joyous inseparable unity as taught in the woods and meadows, plains and mountains and streams of our blessed star."

They will learn that death is stinging indeed and as beautiful as life, and that the grave has no victory, for it never fights. All is divine harmony."

—John Muir
(A thousand Mile Walk to the Gulf)

Faith and Begorra to you. Happy St. Patrick's Day!

May these rich blessings be your due —

And wealth and friendships old and new.

Quiet nights and busy days.

Time for prayer and time for praise.

Diamondhead Rotary countdown funds youth projects, seminar

Results of the second annual countdown, conducted by the Rotary Club of Diamondhead, were announced by club president Jesse W. Stonescipher. Proceeds of some $5,000 were equally divided between "benefit" money and "prize" money.

The countdown committee included Jennifer Gonzales, Alicia Gardner and Jon Ritten. A check for $2,000 of the "benefit" money was presented to Roberta Lottes and Ed Gobert of the Diamondhead Youth Organization (DHYO) for use in development and construction of the youth recreation area on the east side of Diamondhead.

The donation is specifically earmarked for capital improvements, which will benefit the maximum number of youths. Jennifer Gonzales will represent Rotary on the DHYO board of directors.

The remainder of the "benefit" money will be used to send three youths from the present junior class of Hancock High to the Rotary Youth Leadership Awards (RYLA) seminar at Loyola University in New Orleans, all expenses paid.

This week-long educational/social program is aimed at helping young people develop their leadership skills to the fullest. The seminar will be held during the week of July 10-16, and awardees will be housed and fed in university facilities.

Any student now in his/her junior year at Hancock High may obtain additional information and an application by calling a member of the Rotary screening committee composed of Jennifer Gonzales, 255-3550; Gloria Dupree, 255-1442; and Dr. Gary Wiley, 255-1729.

The drawing for the "prize" money was terminated when only two tickets remained in the barrel. By agreement, the holders of these two tickets divided the "prize" money equally. Winners were Mr. and Mrs. Phil Garberg and Dr. and Mrs. Gary Wiley.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

By Craig W. Foster
Edward D. Jones & Co.

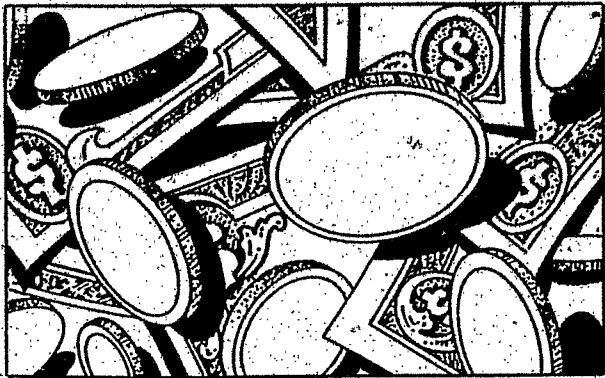

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following column will be published weekly. Topics will be addressed by various professionals in the community on a rotating basis.

In his bid for the presidency, Bill Clinton made it clear that a tax increase was part of his economic plan. In fact, he proposed an increase in the top federal income tax bracket from today's 31 percent to 36 percent. For many investors, this could mean a substantial increase in taxes.

No one wants to bear more than his fair share of the tax burden. That's why tax-free investments are becoming more attractive than ever. Tax-free investments can reduce the amount of taxable income you earn and lessen the impact of taxes.

Tax-free municipal bonds
Tax-free municipal bonds allow you to earn interest that is free from federal taxes and, in some cases, state taxes as well. They've always been an attractive alternative for investors looking for tax-free income. However, an imminent tax increase has increased the demand for tax-free municipals.

Your investment in tax-free municipal bonds goes to finance various public projects like highways, hospitals, housing and public education. In return for your "loan," the issuer of the bond promises to return the face amount of the bond at a specified future date and to pay a fixed amount of interest income until that date. (These payments are usually made semi-annually).

This promise provides an attractive benefit for investors who like a high degree of safety as well as tax-free income. In addition, some municipal bonds carry insurance for the timely payment of principal and interest.

Tax-free unit investment trusts

A tax-free unit investment trust consists of a group of 10 to 30 individual municipal bonds that are selected by professionals and constantly monitored for credit quality. Rather than owning just one individual bond, a unit investment trust allows you diversity among several issues with just one investment.

As you might expect, UITs offer many of the same features as the individual bonds that make them up, but they also offer investors a choice of receiving income monthly, quarterly or semiannually.

In addition, the minimum investment required for unit investment trusts is less than that for individual bonds. Initial investments are usually in $1,000 increments. State tax-free unit investment trusts are also available and pay income that is both federal and state tax-free for residents of that state.

Tax-free mutual funds

A tax-free mutual fund is a portfolio consisting of bonds that are exempt from federal income tax. If the fund happens to be state specific, the income earned on it is exempt from state taxes for all residents of that state who own it.

Mutual funds spread investors' dollars across a number of bonds for added diversification.

Are you prepared for higher taxes?

In addition, they are managed by professional money managers with proven track records.

Investors can choose from flexible payment schedules and can have their interest reinvested in the mutual fund for the added benefit of compounding.

Finally, most mutual funds will accept deposits as small as $50, although slightly more is required to open an account.

The real value

Although the interest rates on tax-free investments are generally lower than those on taxable investments, don't be put off. The most important consideration for investors should be after-tax return.

A couple in the 28 percent tax bracket, earning 6 percent on a tax-free investment today, would have to earn 8.3 percent on a taxable investment in order to achieve the same return. When you factor in state exemptions, the rate on a taxable investment would have to be even higher to match the after-tax return on a tax-free investment.

No matter what the Administration has in store for taxpayers, the fact remains that tax-free investments like municipal bonds, tax-free unit investment trusts, and tax-free mutual funds can play an important role in a diversified portfolio.

CONSUMER UPDATE

New consumer bill awaits passage in the Legislature

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer Money
Management Specialist

A bill in the Mississippi Legislature could prove beneficial for all Mississippi consumers. Leslie Staehle, director of the Division of Consumer Protection with the Office of the Attorney General, presented it to me for review in December. It is now more than midway through the legislative process.

What exactly does the bill aim to accomplish for consumers? It would prohibit any unfair or deceptive trade practice. It gives the "Office of Consumer Protection" within the Office of the Attorney General, the responsibility of administering its provisions and, most important, it provides both civil and criminal penalties for those who violate the provisions.

The inability to criminally prosecute many consumer cases has hindered progress in eliminating unfair business practices to date.

So what are unfair or deceptive trade practices? According to the original bill, "any false or misleading... representation knowingly made in connection with the advertisement, sale, lease, rental, or loan of goods or services... or in the collection of debts... which tends to or does deceive or mislead any person."

It provides clear protection and recourse against those who knowingly deceive when offering a product, service or loaning money.

Some of the specific practices prohibited in the bill which have also been cited by local Gulf Coast consumers include:

- Passing off one good or service for another;
- Causing confusion about the source of particular goods or services;

- Misrepresenting benefits, ingredients or quantities of items presented for trade;
- Indicating that a person has sponsorship, approval, status, affiliation, or connection that he does not have;

- Disparaging the goods, services or business of another;
- Misrepresenting quality or newness of a product;

- Advertising with the intent to sell differently from the way products are advertised or with the intent not to adequately supply the item.

Civil penalties outlined in the bill include up to $10,000 per violation paid to the state of Mississippi. In addition, those violating an injunction can be fined another $10,000. Fines are payable to a Consumer Protection Fraud Fund and the state's general fund.

Violators may also be liable for investigative costs and attorney fees.

Criminal penalties would also be possible. First-time violators could be found guilty of a misdemeanor with a $1,000 fine.

Second offenses would be a misdemeanor with a $1,000 fine and up to one year of prison. Third offenses would be a felony with up to a $5,000 fine and 1 to 5 years in prison.

Price gouging after a state of emergency is also addressed in the current rendition of the bill. For offenses over $250 in value, price gouging would be considered a felony.

In spite of the positive aspects of the bill, it has some opposition. Opponents see it as "anti-business." And of course, regulations that threaten productive business activity do not benefit the consumer in the end.

If it passes, consumers can look forward to harsher penalties for fraud and unfair practices. If it doesn't, we still have excellent advocates in the consumer protection division office in Jackson. I hope they will continue their vigil to make Mississippi a fair place to conduct business.

Benefit set for Valerie Harvey

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Salads that substitute as main-dish meals

My winter-weary appetite called for a salad with a bit of "zing" to it, as a change from the usual lettuce-tomato, especially those tomatoes of wintertime! But, since the larder was on the skimpy side, as I'd been too busy for food-shopping, I really didn't have a great deal of choice.

Usually I keep a few varieties of lettuce on hand, for I'm like a ravenous rabbit when it's a matter of good, fresh salad greens. I like to mix the various greens and accent with a good oil and vinegar dressing, with several grindings of black pepper.

No such luck the other day. So, I gathered up a small heap of the ordinary iceberg lettuce on hand, found an even smaller quantity of Boston lettuce, and fixed:

WILTED LETTUCE

The lettuce is "wilted" when you pour a hot bacon dressing over; and it's quite tasty. To make this old-time treat, combine 3 parts of hot bacon drippings (fry off several bacon slices to get this) with one part of cider vinegar. "Zing" it up with dashes of sugar, pepper and salt to your taste, and blend all together.

Pour over crisp, chilled leaves or chunks of lettuce. For an added touch, sprinkle cooked, crumbled bacon atop, if you haven't munched all the bacon while you made the dressing.

At times, instead of the hot bacon drippings, I combine shredded lettuce with chopped green onions and bits of ham (or bacon) and douse it with a cup of that old Southern favorite, "Red-Eye Gravy" just before serving.

"Red-Eye Gravy" is made by frying a ham slice, then adding leftover coffee, or water, to the luscious "burnings" in the skillet, stirring well. It's heavenly with that ham and grits!

And there's also:

STUFFED LETTUCE
Core ahead of lettuce. Hollow out the center, leaving a shell an inch or so all around. Cream together two small packs of cream cheese and a half cup of blue cheese (at room temperature).

Blend in a quarter-cup of mayonnaise, until the mixture is smooth. Season to your taste, and add chopped green onions to the mixture if you like—I do.

Pack the mixture into the lettuce shell and cover with foil. Chill for at least a few hours before slicing and serving on salad plates.

As for what to do with the lettuce you've taken from the shell, use one of the suggestions above. They're not really recipes, just suggestions, but good!

NOMA

Exhibitions on display at the New Orleans Museum of Art until May 8 include a unique style of photographic works and a collection of Japanese ceramics.

The unique work of Russian immigrants Rimma Gerlovina and Valeri Gerlovin is showcased in the photography exhibition of Photoglyphs.

Each photoglyph is a large, close-up portrait that compels the viewer to scrutinize and perhaps even unravel its messages. Sometimes humorous, sometimes haunting, the Gerlovins' photoglyphs explore subjects such as faith, mythology, the uses of language and the nature of reality.

Also on display at the museum until May 8 is a world of ceramics, from avant-garde Japanese studio works to turn-of-the-century Newcomb classics.

Modern Japanese Ceramics in American Collections offers one of the most comprehensive exhibitions of modern Japanese studio ceramics ever held in the West. Featured are 120 works by some 87 Japanese artists reflecting the wide range of shapes, sizes, colors, glaze styles and designs produced in Japan between 1935 and 1990.

The exhibitions coincide with the annual meeting of the National Council on Education for the Ceramic Arts, held this year in New Orleans.

Anderson exhibits

The featured exhibit on display until May 1 at the Walter Anderson Museum is "Walter Anderson's Pine Trees in the Wind."

The exhibit, curated by Anne Bradburn, features the patterns and colors of bark, the shapes and strength of the Gulf Coast's dominant tree, as interpreted by Walter Anderson. Many have never been on display before.

Some of the pieces included in the exhibit have become known as Anderson's "trunk paintings"—paintings his family found in a trunk in the old kiln house at Shearwater Pottery more than 20 years after his death.

The exhibit hours are Monday-Saturday 10-5 and Sunday 1-5.

Upcoming events at the museum include:

—March 12-Pine Tree Symposium. There is a $20 fee for museum members, $25 fee for others. Space is limited.

—March 26-Paper-making workshop for children 8-12. The fee is $10 for museum members, $12 for others.

—April 9-Creativity Workshop for children of all ages from 10 a.m. to noon. The event is free to the public.

Something Old,

Something New.

1 (601) 352-9993

There's something new to remember. From now on, when you make long distance calls to telephone numbers within Mississippi's 601 area code, dial 0 or 1 + 601 and then the number you're calling.

The nation's continued telecommunications growth has created a shortage of telephone numbers. By dialing the appropriate area code on all long distance calls, numbers are freed up for new business and residential customers.

If you have long distance numbers within the 601 area code on any programmed services or equipment like Speed Calling, Call Forwarding, modems, or even a FAX machine, now's the time to reprogram them. Effective May 1, 1994, dialing the area code will be necessary to complete long distance calls to telephone numbers within the 601 area.

Warriors topple Tigers

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Bay High Tigers bowed to the D'Iberville Warriors on Monday 4-2.

D'Iberville opened the scoring in the first inning with two runs. The Warriors added another run in the third inning, as the Tigers didn't connect with the ball until late in the game.

The Tigers added two runs in the bottom of the seventh, but it was to no avail as the Warriors sealed their victory with a run in the top of the seventh.

James Benton scored off a past ball at home plate to score the Tigers first run. Bennie Murphy went 1 for 4 and singled home his brother Raleigh Murphy, who went 1 for 2 on the night.

Luke Weems went 1 for 1 with a double, while Jeff Hopgood went 2 for 3.

Although Mark Dupuy took the loss for the Tigers, he pitched a good game. Dupuy struck out 9 batters and allowed only three hits.

Said Coach Fred Weems, "This was a tough loss for us. The kids are a hard working group so I know that they can bounce back from this and be ready for the Hancock County tournament this weekend."

"I was pleased with our pitching. I've never seen Mark (Dupuy) pitch a bad game. Our defense was weak tonight. We need to work on our mental errors. We'll bounce back and be ready," he said.

The Tigers are 5-4 overall and have a 2-1 district record. Their next action will be against Hancock in the Hancock County tournament this Friday at 7 p.m.

DIAMONDHEAD

Wednesday, March 23, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Hostesses: Diamondhead Garden Club

DIAMONDHEAD COMMUNITY CENTER

Before picking up maps and starting a tour of Diamondhead homes and gardens, guests are invited to view the lovely flowers and arrangements of Diamondhead Garden Club members for their annual Standard Flower Show. This year's theme is "Broadway Bound."

HOME OF N. J. AND SANTINA LOICONO

72693 Diamondhead Drive North

This beautiful Acadian cottage was designed, built and decorated by the Loiconos this past year. Guests will be welcomed through a lovely beveled glass front door into a foyer where an exquisite Waterford chandelier, purchased in England, throws a warmth of colors.

In the dining room hangs another chandelier purchased in Venice, Italy. A grand piano in the music room and many other unique antique pieces collected from all over the world makes this home a delight to visit.

HOME OF LLOYD AND AUDREY RAMIREZ

554 Kaiki Circle

Openess to both the inside and outside is the hallmark of this stylized ranch house. Designed by the owners for informal entertaining, the dining room, kitchen and living areas are open to each other.

Blending with the outdoors is enhanced by many windows and glass doors, rich green carpeting and three porches (glass, open and screen) that provide enjoyment of the park-like setting during any season.

The views of the golf course and dogwood trees are sensational. The woodwork is oak, except for the mantle which is 75-year-old tidewater cypress from the swamps near Pass Manchac.

The home has multiple architectural features, such as recessed ceilings, changes in floor elevations and various lighting techniques. Several paintings, needlework done by Audrey and family heirlooms complement and complete the informal atmosphere.

HOME OF MARIO AND ROSE ESPINOSA

1330 Poli Place

The home was designed and constructed by Mario with the warmth of home entertaining in mind. The 135-foot concrete bulkhead with wharf was completed in February, 1985.

The house was started in April, 1985. The foundation is steel re-inforced concrete filled cinder block piers. It has custom-made cherry-stained millwork throughout, designed and installed by Mario.

The foyer, great room, sun porch and formal dining room have ceramic tile floors. The great room features a mahogany wet bar with marble inlay from the facia acquired from the Canal Street Leonard Krowler.

Also featured is a large see-through brick, gas-burning fireplace with solid mahogany mantles. Two levels of open decking overlook the main canal and bay.

A large atrium provides a tropical atmosphere with a three-tier waterfall emptying into a kidney-shaped pond surrounded by plants.

Langen gardens

GARDENS OF LOU AND NINA COTTON

8920 Kipapa Way

This beautiful garden was designed by Nina. The side garden is filled with roses, lilies and many colorful shrubs. Her "friendship garden" has stepping stones engraved with names of many old friends and the dates when they first met.

A marble table top from her family home sits in a quiet tranquil corner of the garden. Bird houses, custom made to copy the exact design of family homes add another personal charm to this garden.

As you walk through the gardens, another pleasant treat of refreshments will be served in the gazebo.

GARDENS OF HENRY AND VIRGINIA LANGEN

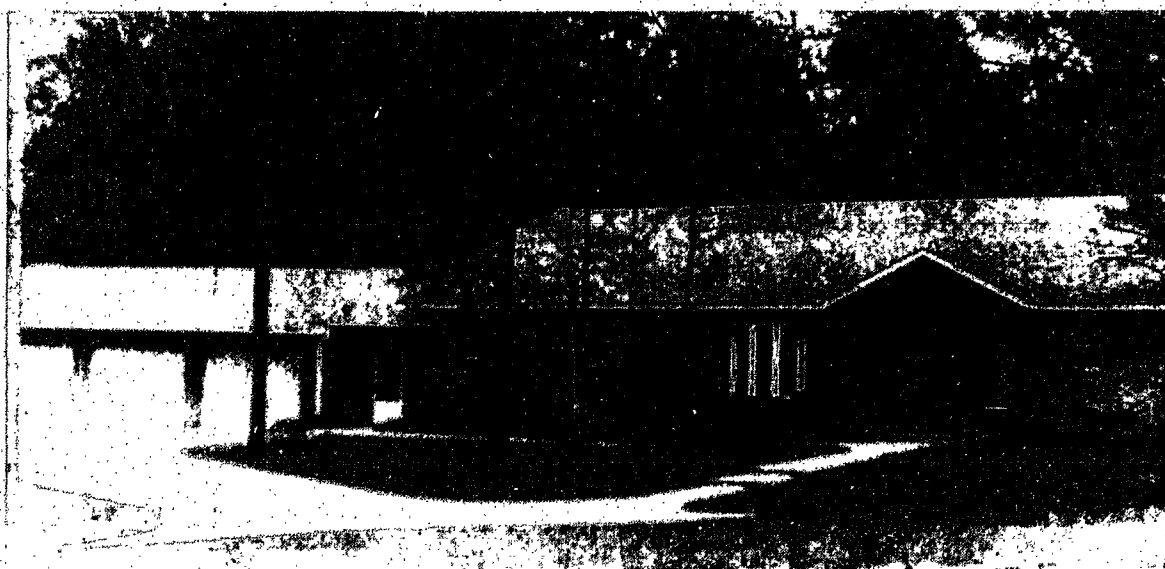

8454 Kimo Court

The Langens have developed a beautiful garden around their home. Enter the front yard through a lovely trellis bridge and start your tour on a red brick walkway. Many plants and trees are young in this side garden, but the colors are beautiful.

On around to the rear is a private area with azalea and camellia plants and patio table and chairs. Circling the house, a large trellis and flowering shrubs greet the visitor. Words are inadequate to describe the roses, lilies, ferns and many other Mississippi plants to be found here.

Teachers sought for summer fellowships

Organizers of the 1994 Summer Industrial Fellowships for Gulf Coast Teachers (SIFT) are seeking teachers and industries to participate in this year's program, which runs from June 13 through Aug. 15.

The goal of the SIFT program is to improve the quality of education along the Mississippi Gulf Coast by linking local businesses and government agencies with area teachers for summer employment.

The program seeks to enhance teachers' professional development; improve classroom coverage of subjects relative to industry; and foster partnerships among education, industry and government.

Under SIFT's auspices, participating industries hire teachers for jobs related to their teaching fields for eight weeks during the summer; however, companies are prohibited from offering permanent employment. The program is open to elementary, middle and high school teachers in Hancock, Harrison, Jackson and Pearl River counties.

Participating industries and federal agencies pay educators a standard weekly salary of $435. They are responsible for developing job descriptions, interviewing candidates, making job offers, providing work space and equipment, supervising the teachers and evaluating the program at its conclusion. Each organization is also asked to provide a mentor to work closely with the teachers during their employment period.

SIFT is a cooperative effort sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Economic Development Council; the Commander, Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command; the National Aeronautics and Space Administration; and Johnson Controls World Services Inc. Industries interested in offering fellowships should contact the Mississippi Gulf Coast Economic Development Council, P. O. Box 4079, Gulfport, MS 39502.

Teachers interested in broadening their experiences by working in a field related to the subject they teach should contact the NASA Teacher Resource Center, John C. Stennis Space Center, Building 1200, Stennis Space Center, MS 39529, 688-3338. Deadline for submitting teacher applications is March 28. Applications have been sent to all local school administrators.

Science fair winners from Coast Christian Home Educator's Association in Pass Christian include:

Grades 1-6
Kevin Witt, Karen Reid, Jessie Murphy, Eugene Sandberg, Richard Sandberg, Jennifer Sandberg, Ruth Wilcox, James Wilcox, David Dorn II, Noah Lynch, Carly Blount, Damon Blount, Sean Tiblier, Jane Tiblier, Anthony Williams, Aaron Williams, Samuel Turnage and Chris Franklin.

Grades 7-12
John Wilcox, Rachel Wilcox, Melissa Dorn, Kate Lynch, Sarah Mahler, Kevin Rollins and Sarah Scarborough.

Fourth grader Karen Reid explains her project to judge Art Holzweissig.

GE Plastics honors students during Nat. Engineers Week

GE Plastics celebrated National Engineers Week by recognizing seven science fair participants at an awards ceremony and luncheon.

National Engineers Week is an annual event to increase public awareness and appreciation of engineers and their work.

Several schools approach GE Plastics with a request for science fair judges each year. In those schools, a GE award is given to the student whose scientific project relates to a GE business or the community.

This year's winners and projects of the GE award are

Jeremy Foulon, first grade, Pearl River Central Elementary, "How A Christmas Tree Helps Our Environment,"

Claudette Garcia, ninth grade, Hancock High School, "Oil Spills,"

Phillips Garcia, senior at St. Stanislaus High School, "Wetlands Survey,"

Ginger Hoda, fourth grade, Hancock North Central Elementary, "Time Out for a Commercial Break,"

Cain Miller, third grade, Gulfview Elementary, "Tomatoes Anyone?"

John Rogers, third grade, Hancock North Central Elementary, "The Solar Machine," and

Sarah Wilkinson, third grade, Charles B. Murphy Elementary, "Rainy Day Physics."

Steve Gover, plant manager, presented each student an award certificate and desk clock.

The science fair projects were displayed at the awards ceremony, which was attended by the science fair winners, their principals, GE Plastics engineers, and all company employees.

The four students will compete in the district tournament at Pearl River Community College March 29. The winners at the district level will compete in the state level tournament.

GARDENS OF MARY SINDERS

88386 Diamondhead Drive East.
These gardens were designed to use native Mississippi plants such as azaleas, camellias, wax myrtles, honeysuckle and mums. There are several beds of day lilies in a full range of species and colors. The focal point of the backyard is a landscaped bed of greenery and flowering plants surrounding a fountain.

An area just off the pergola is a wildflower garden planted to attract butterflies and hummingbirds. The pergola and the patio are brightened by pots of flowering annuals and hanging baskets.

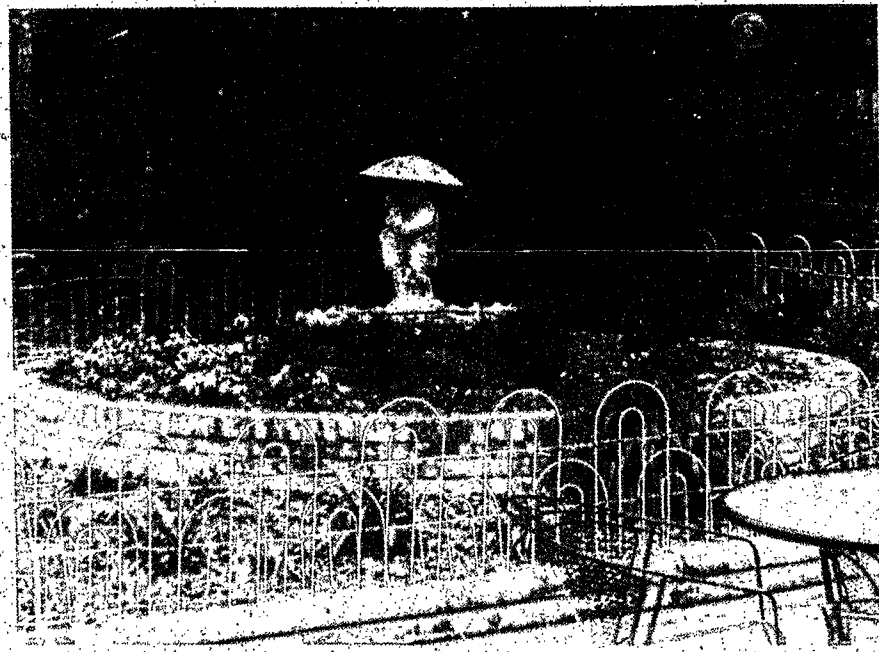

GARDENS OF CHARLES AND JEAN EAKIN

2340 Airport Drive

This large expanse of garden is a haven for birds with plantings which enhance its natural state — keeping everything in its simplest form. Various feeding stations and a nearby body of water attract a multiplicity of birds.

Provisions for natural nesting sites add to the increase in the population of native birds. The overall effect of this lovely bird garden with its country atmosphere is one of peace and tranquility.
